

Social Media Usage Policy for Employees

Employees are representatives of our brand. When posting on social media, employees must make it clear that opinions expressed are their own.

Do not post confidential company information, client trade secrets, or project code repositories to public forums or social networks.

Respectful online engagement is required. Harassment, discrimination, or hate speech posted online will result in immediate termination.

This policy applies both during and outside of normal work hours, ensuring a high standard of external brand protection.
